

STEAM Break!

I know this Spring Break will be difficult, and much different from what we all are used to. I hope you will find time to relax with your family, read, and enjoy time outside! But if you're looking for some things to do, I found some STEAM-related activities that you may find fun and interesting! These are awesome challenges to tackle yourself, or with your family! I'd love to hear about anything you try! :)

These are optional and just-for-fun resources for you. Your next actual assignment will be sent Monday, March 30 (Blue Day). Have a wonderful break, everyone!

Imagineering In A Box	Disney Imagineers are the incredibly brilliant, creative people behind the magic at Disney Theme Parks! Imagineers design and engineer every tiny detail at Disneyland and Disney World. (They even design the rocks!)	Learn about the imagineering process through Khan Academy. You'll imagineer your own theme park experience, complete with characters and rides!
Animate with Scratch	Scratch is a great way to practice your coding skills while creating online animations!	Check out the list of tutorials to familiarize yourself with Scratch. Then create your own animations!
Build your own Rube Goldberg Machine	Read all about Rube Goldberg. Check out some key ideas behind Rube Goldberg machines. Think of a simple task that could be completed with a RG machine. Check out these kids who designed a way to pump hand sanitizer!	There are many other great examples of Rube Goldberg machines on YouTube. After you think of a task, use random materials from your house to create your own machine!
Play Google's Interland	Interland is an interactive online world that reinforces what it means to be internet smart, alert, strong, kind, and brave!	Have fun and practice Digital Citizenship skills while playing Interland!
Check out these 77 Simple STEM Activities for Families	And these 77 MORE Simple STEM Activities for Families	Also in Spanish! And Arabic!